

BOLZANO DANZA 2026

CALL - RISE

On the occasion of the presentation of the show RISE at the Bolzano Danza 2026 Festival, choreographer Daniele Ninarello invites people from the local community to take part in the company's creative process and to participate in the performance. Through the PARADE programme, participants will enter into the company's research work and practices, sharing some rehearsal and creation moments that will flow into the show. Musician Dan Kinzelman will also be present throughout the programme.

The project

The show RISE, co-produced by Bolzano Danza, stems from an observation of the crisis generated by the disconnection between the individual and the collective: from the widespread difficulty of experiencing a sense of belonging, and from the need — never fully extinguished — to rediscover an US. As happens in collective dance — understood as an experience capable of bringing the body back to the centre of social bonds — RISE explores the phenomenon of possession: an external force that passes through the body, infects it, and returns it to the community transformed. Drawing on these themes, participants will be invited to share some practices from the creative process and to contribute to the collective composition that will take shape in the show.

Who can apply?

The call is open to 6 people between the ages of 18 and 40, passionate about dance and movement, with a good sense of rhythm and physical engagement. Professional dance experience is not required, but the following are expected:

- Curiosity towards physical work;
- Openness to collective practice;
- Willingness to experiment.

Selected individuals will take part in a number of working sessions with the company and will participate in the performance.
